Summary of reasons for decision:

The computer moving image file is deemed objectionable because it promotes and supports the exploitation of children or young persons for sexual purposes.

A man is explicitly presented involving a pre-pubescent boy in sexual activity. The computer moving image file is a visual record of the sexual abuse inflicted upon the boy who is presented as a sexual object to be used for the titillation and arousal of adults. The effect of such presentations is to strengthen a sexual interest in children, and to encourage their sexual exploitation.

The classification of this publication as objectionable interferes with the right to freedom of expression as set out in the New Zealand Bill of Rights Act 1990. However, this classification is consistent with Parliament's intention and is a reasonable limitation on the right to freedom of expression. This classification is a demonstration of the fundamental importance our society places on protecting the young from sexual exploitation.
